DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Examiner has further considered the claim groups originally filed in the application and has determined that the restriction mailed April 11, 2006 incorrectly grouped the claimed inventions. Examiner apologizes for this confusion and delay. A proper grouping of the claimed inventions has now been made.

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, drawn to frame structure of a vehicle with mounting detail of a switching unit, classified in class 180, subclass 376.
- II. Claims 7-13, drawn to frame structure of a vehicle with hydraulic fluid accommodating, classified in class 180, subclass 311.
- III. Claims 14-21, drawn to a brake mechanism for drive shafts, classified in class 192, subclass 218.

Inventions I and II are related as products which share an alleged common utility of vehicle frame structure having internal cavities for transmission structure but the common utility is not linked to a substantial structural feature. The products in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the products encompass embodiments that are not required to perform the common utility or (2) that the products as claimed can be used to perform another utility. In this case, the vehicle frame detail including mounting detail of the switching unit in Group I, is mutually exclusive from the vehicle frame detail of Group II including detail to the accommodating of hydraulic fluid within the frame. Claim 4 does not relate Group I sufficiently to Group II, and similarly claims 11-13 do not relate Group II to Group I. The structure novel to Groups I and II are divergent and do not require the details of the other group.

Inventions I and III are directed to vehicle systems. The related inventions are distinct if the inventions as claimed do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants; and the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the frame structure arrangement including mounting of a switching unit of Invention I is mutually exclusive from the brake mechanism of Invention III.

Inventions II and III are directed to vehicle systems. The related inventions are distinct if the inventions as claimed do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants; and the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the frame structure arrangement including hydraulic fluid accommodating of Invention II is mutually exclusive from the brake mechanism of Invention III.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Tracy – Gene G. Durkin on July 24, 2006 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to George D. Spisich whose telephone number is (571)
